2023.9.4-7

Shanghai New International Expo Center China

中国・上海新国际博览中心

The 10th All China - International Wire & Cable Industry Trade Fair (wire China 2023) will take place from 4 to 7 September 2023 at the Shanghai New International Expo Center. The trade fair is organised by Messe Düsseldorf (Shanghai) Co., Ltd. together with the Shanghai Electric Cable Research Institute Co., Ltd.

The latest technologies, products and trends in the wire and cable industry will be presented - with the super trends digital intelligence and low carbon giving the industry an accelerating impulse.

Cables are used in almost all manufacturing industries and ensure the development of core industries such as power, energy, petrochemicals, transportation, communications and appliance manufacturing. The emergence of new channels for high-end devices, especially in China, such as smart manufacturing, new energy vehicles, rail transport, network communications and aerospace, create a favourable market environment for the development of the wire and cable industry.

900 international exhibitors will showcase solutions from the fields of "Smart Manufacturing", "Green and Low Carbon", "Digital Innovation" and "Sustainable Development". The range of products and services at wire China 2023 is complemented by in-depth conferences and trend forums. Digitalisation of the wire and cable industry as well as intelligent and environmentally friendly development are the focus here.
